20' Center Console Open Fisherman

Allmand Boats custom builds the classic and original 20' center console fishing boat design. Over the decades there have been many variations but the basic V hull shape and deck layout, center console design has remained virtually the same. Some of the advantages to the Allmand 20' open center console fishing boat are the smooth inner liner rather than the open sides exposing the insides of the hull. The enclosed inner liner can be used for fishing rod storage or other storage that needs to be out of sight or locked. Next is the material used in construction. Fiberglass material comes direct from the fiberglass mills and laid as soon as delivered locking out unwanted moisture. Every other U.S. boat builder waits at least two months for the same materials we receive immediately direct from the material manufacturers. Email us for details on our unique and optimal fiberglass, gel coat and other raw material sourcing strategy that provides a superior hull every time. The superior material sourcing strategy we adapt allows every boat to have a factory hull warranty five years or longer.

Allmand Boats offers hull color selections, synthetic core material options as standard features that other builders charge for. Customization is routine such as an example of our last customer who needed special large under deck storage. No problem there, custom storage under deck is done simply and economically giving the fisherman just what they are looking for in a fishing boat.
